

Bill Curtailing Coin Transactions Introduced Measure to Give Treasury Dictatorial Powers

A bill, S.2012, which if passed would grant the U. S. Treasury unlimited and dictatorial powers over coin collecting, has just been introduced in the U.S. Senate by Senator Alan Bible (D-Nevada) cosponsored by Senators Mike Mansfield (D-Montana); Lee Metcalf (D-Montana); Howard W. Cannon (D-Nevada); Frank E. Moss (D-Utah).

Far from questioning Senator Bible's motives, it is obvious however that the Treasury's decision not to mint silver dollars is not entirely alien to his attitude.

To say the very least, the proposed legislation climaxes ten days of official panic and confusion originated mainly by the President's "O.K." for 45 million 1964-dated silver dollars — this in the face of the Treasury's inability to deliver the much awaited report on silver and coinage.

What then are the provisions of this controversial if not outright dangerous bill which risks to imperil the entire future of coin collecting?

One of the bill's highlights would make IT ILLEGAL to PURCHASE and SELL COINS (except for usage in jewelry) for a price in excess of monetary value. According to Senator Bible, provision No. 5 of the bill "would protect and exempt coins which, because of their rarity, have a value to bona fide collectors," and this would be achieved through the compilation and publication in the Federal Register of a list of coins

We have carefully examined and analyzed S.2012, a bill designed "to prohibit certain practices creating artificial shortages in the supply of coins of the United States." With particular reference to the provisions of this bill which would create direct Treasury control over the determination of numismatic value (No. 5) and the prohibition of collateral loans on coins (No. 2), we feel that these particular provisions of S.2012 are both dangerous and detrimental to the hobby of coin collecting.

These provisions constitute a violation of the personal rights of coin collectors and in addition expand already broad Federal controls over coin collecting into the hands of certain individuals notoriously hostile to the hobby.

SPECIAL MEETING HELD

Concurrent with this article, a meeting consisting of approximately 80 coin collectors and dealers was held Tuesday evening, June 1st, in Philadelphia, Pa.

The group, presided over by Herman Pressman well known Cleveland attorney, determined that their name shall be The United Coin Collectors Assoc.

A committee of six persons representing coin collectors, coin dealers and numismatic publications was elected. Their job: to map out effective campaign tactics alerting all people interested in numismatics to the purposes of, and ramifications in, the proposed Bible Bill.

Financial contributions were offered by most of those attending. Dealers were allowed to contribute a minimum of $100.00 and collectors a minimum of $1.00. PACE, along with other numismatic publications, offered free advertising space to the Assoc. PACE also contributed financial support to the Assoc.

The new association urgently requests the support of all people interested in the preservation of American numismatics, be you collector, dealer or hobbyist. Contributions should be mailed to:

UNITED COIN COLLECTORS ASSOC.

Everyone attending the meeting concurred that it was the most successful conclave of collectors and dealers in many years, with all united for the preservation of the very life of the numismatic world.

A more comprehensive report on the association's activities will follow next week.

DEEMED TO BE OF NUMISMATIC VALUE, determined by none other than the Treasury Department.

Past Vexations

Yes, one must pause and gasp for air at the thought of such absurdity; recognizing Senator Bible's sincerity and dedication, we must assume that he has naively overlooked one thing, however: THE SECULAR ANTAGONISM WHICH CERTAIN TREASURY OFFICIALS DISPLAY TOWARDS THE HOBBY OF COIN COLLECTING.

One of them is credited with the statement that no commemorative coinage will ever be struck during his tenure, hence the absence of such coinage since 1954.

In yet another instance the importation of gold coins by U.S. citizens or collectors is prohibited and illegal. Licenses to import gold coins have been doled out with the uttermost slowness, ill will, and reluctance by the Office of Silver and Gold Operations since the decision went into effect, and in addition only gold coinage struck before 1935 can even be considered for licensing.

Coins VS. Travel

It has been advanced that the ownership or importation of gold contributed directly to the balance of payments deficit; yet, if ALL the gold coins produced in the ENTIRE WORLD during 1963 had been imported by American coin collectors, the amount would barely have involved 10 million dollars, FOREIGN TRAVEL by U.S. citizens involved 3 BILLION dollars for 1963.

Shall we add the elimination of U.S. Proof sets and Mint sets, and the retention of "1964" on coinage as additional vexations of the coin collecting community.

With a touch of demagoguery we can also point out, perhaps, that coin collecting is generally the hobby of the humble and modest, whereas international travel remains the panacea of the well-to-do and the jet-set — why

Commemoratives From Collector's Viewpoint

Conclusion: Providence Till Discontinuation,

1935-1954

By: Christian F. Verbeke, F.R.N.S.

WITH the serious threats confronting coin collecting today, the now defunct minting of U. S. commemoratives appears as another event in a long series of vexations which coin collectors have suffered at the hands of officialdom; the latter certainly enhances the general interest in commemorative coins—now reduced to the status of collectors' relics.

Undoubtedly there have existed certain abuses in the issuance of commemorative coins, yet the nature of these abuses reveals more issuers' exuberance than malfeasance and certainly DOES NOT JUSTIFY the discontinuation of commemorative coinage.

One eminently successful issue was the—

Providence, Rhode Island Tercentenary

This small issue commemorated the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of the city of Providence, Rhode Island. Coining was executed in Philadelphia: 20,013; Denver: 15,010; San Francisco: 15,011, and none were melted. Initially offered at $1.00 per piece, part of the underwriting was handled by Rhode Island coin dealer Horace Grant. The entire issue was liquidated in a matter of hours.

Cleveland, Great Lakes Exposition

This half dollar commemorated the Centennial of Cleveland, Ohio, celebrated during the Great Lakes Exposition of 1936. Of the 50,030 pieces coined, none were melted. The original offering price was $1.50.

One hundred specimens were counterstamped by the Western Reserve Numismatic Club of Cleveland and the dies destroyed.

Wisconsin Territorial Centennial

Commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Territory of Wisconsin. Only 25,015 coins were struck and none melted. The coins were distributed by the Coinage Committee of the Wisconsin Centennial and offered at $1.50 each.

Cincinnati Musical Center

The half dollar commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of Cincinnati, Ohio, as the musical center of America was a sell-out before release. Sold in sets of three at an initial offering price of $7.50, the sets quickly climbed to $50 when they were released in 1936. Coinage: Philadelphia, 5,005; Denver, 5,005; San Francisco, 5,006. None melted.

Long Island Tercentenary

Commemorated the three hundredth anniversary of the first settlement on Long Island, New York. Of the 100,053 coined, 18,277 were melted leaving 81,826 for distribution at $1.00 each. Included in the total of these commemorative half dollars mintage figures were 53 assay coins.

York County, Maine Tercentenary

Issued in 1936 commemorating the three-hundredth anniversary of the founding of York County, Maine. Of the 25,015 coined, none were melted. The half dollar was originally offered at $1.50 to residents of York County and the State of Maine. Outside the State the price was $1.65 including shipping charges. A large remainder of the issue was released in the mid-fifties in lots of ten for $15.50.

Bridgeport, Connecticut Centennial

The half dollar issued in 1936 commemorated the one-hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of Bridgeport, Connecticut, as a city. Of the 25,015 coins struck, none were melted. Initial offering price was $2.00, a large remainder of this coin was offered in the late fifties. The obverse of the half dollar depicts famous showman P. T. Barnum, also a prominent citizen of Bridgeport.

Lynchburg, Virginia Sesquicentennial

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the issuance of a charter to the city of Lynchburg was celebrated in 1936 with a commemorative half dollar. The obverse features the bust of Carter Glass, prominent citizen of Lynchburg. Initially offered at $1.00, a total of 20,013 coins was struck and none were melted.

Elgin, Illinois Centennial

While commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the city of Elgin and the erection of the Pioneer Memorial, the design of the coin is primarily in commemoration of the pioneers. Issued in 1936, the half dollar sold for $1.50. Of the 25,015 coins struck, 5000 were melted, leaving a balance of 20,015.

Albany, New York

Issued in 1936, this half dollar commemorated the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the city of Albany. Actually the city was founded in 1614 and chartered in 1686, but the Act authorizing this issue reads that the coin is a commemorative of the "founding." The coinage proved less than a success, with 7,342 coins being melted of the original 25,013 piece issue. Initial offering price was $2.00.

San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge

This half dollar was issued to commemorate the opening of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge in 1936. Total coinage was 100,055, melted: 28,631, leaving a net coinage of 71,424. Original offering price: $1.50. Speculative appeal or the lack thereof failed to make this coinage a success as some considered the issue too large and lacking national appeal.

Columbia, South Carolina Sesquicentennial

This half dollar commemorated the sesquicentennial of the founding of Columbia, the capital of South Carolina. Issued in 1936, total coinage was Philadelphia: 9,007; Denver: 8,009; San Francisco: 8,007; none melted. The coins were offered in sets of three for $6.45.

Delaware Tercentenary

Commemorated the three hundredth anniversary of the Swedish landing and settlement in Delaware. Issued in 1938, 25,015 coins were struck of which 4,022 were melted, the net balance of 20,993 was offered at $1 each. The issue was authorized and is dated 1936 (reverse) but was struck in 1937 and not released till 1938 (obverse date).

Battle of Gettysburg

The half dollar was issued to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg. The coin is above all a joint homage to both soldiers of the North and South. Net coinage 26,928 issued at $1.65 each in 1938. Mixed-up dates of authorization, striking, and issuance as in Delaware issue.

Norfolk, Virginia Bicentennial

A "combination" issue commemorating jointly in 1937 the two-hundredth anniversary of the founding of Norfolk, Virginia, and of the tercentary of the original Norfolk land grant. Net coinage, 16,936. The half dollars were offered at $1.50. Due to legislative difficulties the coin was authorized as a medal at the outset.

Roanoke Island, North Carolina

A "combination" issue (1937) commemorating the birth of Virginia Dare and the three hundred fiftieth anniversary of the Raleigh Colony on Roanoke Island, North Carolina. Net coinage: 29,030, offered at $1.65 each.

Battle of Antietam

Very much a North-South good will issue which commemorated the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Battle of Antietam. The coin depicts the conjoint busts of generals McClellan and Lee. Net coinage: 18,028, offered at $1.65.

New Rochelle, New York

This half dollar commemorates the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of New Rochelle, celebrated in 1938. Net coinage 15,266, originally offered at $2.00. Matte Proofs exist of this coin. This was the last of the pre World War II commemorative half dollars.

Iowa Statehood Centennial

First of the post World War II commemoratives, the half dollar was struck in 1946 marking the one hundredth anniversary of the 29th state entering the Union. None were melted of the 100,057 pieces coined which were offered at $2.50 to Iowa residents, $3.00 for non-residents. Because of the extremely large mintage, no immediate price increase occurred. A total of 1,000 coins were set aside for the 150th and 200th anniversary of the State.

Booker T. Washington

The issue commemorated the life of negro educator, emancipator, Booker T. Washington. Coins were issued continuously between 1946 and 1951. Of the total of 3,167,205 coins minted over that period, 1,581,631 were returned for minting.

This issue constituted the prelude to the elimination of commemoratives in the U.S. Controversy, law suits, charges of misappropriated funds, and the general disgust of collectors led to the discontinuation of the commonly called B.T.W.; the issue was consolidated, so to speak, in a new commemorative coinage entitled.

Booker T. Washington—Washington Carver

Issued to commemorate the lives of Washington and Carver, both negro educators. Of a total coinage of 2,422,392 pieces, some 1,091,198 coins were returned for melting.

This issue was a succession to the BTW coinage and designed to revive sales. Instead, this issue was to become the Achilles Heel of commemorative U.S. coinage.

Washington-Carver coins were issued continuously between 1951 and 1954. The issue was unable to overcome its predecessor's handicaps, however, and thus in 1954 ended the issuance of commemorative coins.

President Eisenhower's veto message of February 3, 1954, gave commemoratives the kiss of death. Eleven years have past since, and although there is no immediate prospect for commemoratives in sight, an educated guess is that after the silver-coinage crisis is solved, a possibility for resuming commemorative coinage exists.

then two sets of laws?

Treasury Competence?

Re-examining the main provisions of this section of bill S.2012, viz., the Treasury's ability of judgment which coins would be deemed of numismatic value and which not, is well-nigh giving this institution more credit for talent than it possesses; indeed, to cure the alleged abuses of commemoratives, the Treasury had recourse to their assassination; to counteract a coin shortage, the most imaginative contrivance of "1964 retention" was devised. But above all, WHERE IS THE SILVER AND COIN-AGE REPORT? Apparently the Treasury cannot discharge itself even of the most elementary task of providing the nation with a suitable coinage and the preservation of a national asset: SILVER.

To conclude, and adding insult to injury, the basic attribute of U.S. coin collecting viz., Proof sets, was summarily eliminated in 1964. In all, thus, a long series of vexations, unimaginative, and punitive measures against coin collectors; NEGATION rather than SOLUTION, expediency versus prudence.

Collateral Loans

Under provision No. 2 of S.2012 it would be illegal "to make loans on coins where the coins are held as security, except loans on bona fide collections of rare coins."

This provision is directly related to the Treasury's right or ability to determine which coin is deemed of numismatic value or not, and we have established beyond a reasonable doubt that the U.S. Treasury is unable to clearly judge or evaluate collectors' interests, and moreover has engaged in a series of moves outright hostile to the coin collecting community.

Treasury

Treasury attitudes it is obvious this institution cannot be entrusted with the determination or definition of "numismatic value" or "rarity of coin" as both factors are subjective, relative, and could lend themselves to arbitrary interpretation by a zealot anxious to perpetrate the ultimate holocaust of a popular and dearly loved hobby.

The ultimate decision whether or not coins can be used in collateral loans, or what is considered a sufficiently valuable collateral instrument, should be determined by the respective banks which engage in such practices, or better even, be studied by the Federal Reserve System under whose authority these banks function.

Any decision contrary to these principles risks again to violate private or public liberties. The closest parallel would be to prohibit Lloyd's of London to engage in the insurance of what is sometimes considered the "uninsurable," against all odds of risks; yet this evaluation is left to the underwriters, not to official intervention or definition.

Hence, the banks and their managements' inalienable rights to determine what is a proper and valid collateral instrument, coins in this instance, certain risks notwithstanding.

Conclusions

a) To empower the Treasury with the legal definition of what constitutes "RARE COINS" or "NUMISMATIC VALUE" constitutes the delegation of dictatorial-like powers to this institution.

b) The entire coin collecting community cannot be made the scapegoat for all of the nation's silver and coinage ailments.

c) Bona fide coin collectors and coin dealers share the nation's concern over the coin shortage and the silver crisis but do not wish to be summarily condemned along with a handful of profiteers unworthy to be in their midst.

d) The coin collecting community realizes the unavailability of minting silver dollars now, but does not wish to be held responsible for the causes of this unfortunate necessity.

e) Chartered banks operating under the Federal Reserve System authority are entitled to the right of self-determination in the evaluation of what constitutes acceptable collateral instruments, and these activities should not be curtailed by arbitrary legislation.

Provisions of Bill

If enacted into law, S.2012 would amend several existing statutes. It also provides penalties for violations of the several provisions which follow:

First) To melt silver coins.

Second) To make loans on coins where the coins are held as security, except loans on bona fide collections of rare coins.

Third) To accumulate coins in excess of the reasonable demands of business or personal use.

Fourth) To export coins from the United States or its possessions.

Fifth) For the purchase and sale of coins, except where coins are used in jewelry, for a price in excess of their monetary value. Again, the bill would protect and exempt coins which, because of their rarity, have a value to bona fide collectors.

The bill would cause the Treasury Department to publish in the Federal Register from time to time a list of coins deemed to be of numismatic value.

BORROW
$100 to $100,000
ON YOUR COINS

WE OFFER CASH LOANS UP TO 70% & 80% OF THE CURRENT WHOLESALE MARKET PRICE OF YOUR COINS THROUGH YOUR AUTHORIZED AGENT • BY PHONE • BY MAIL

This new, exclusive lending service offers coin dealers and coin investors desired flexibility in their operation; slow-moving coins can be used as collateral to obtain immediate operating capital for current market opportunities . . . to earn bigger profits for you . . . NOW!

Free insurance is provided on your coins while they are stored in our modern fireproof and burglar-proof vaults. Your coins, and they remain yours—you are not subject to a repurchase option—are fully protected from the time they leave your possession until they are safely returned to you when the loan is repaid.

Our Pledge Loans are entirely confidential; your friends, business associates will not know of the transaction. Your privacy is emphatically respected.

A check can be airmailed special delivery to you the same day the coins are received at our office. Phone or mail the completed coupon today to find out how you can take advantage of this valuable financial service.

Our Pledge Loans are not discounted; the borrower has full use of the money for the maturity of the loan. Charges are 5/6 of 1% per month and repayable monthly for the maturity of the loan, which is determined by the borrower; a small service charge is assessed to cover handling and filing fees. You can take from 30 days to 30 months to repay the loan. Contract terms can be arranged to include principal in the monthly installments, if desired, thereby further reducing the low-cost loan charges.

BU 1964 BERMUDA CROWNS

Only 500,000 1964 Bermuda Crowns have been struck to date. We consider this crown to be a better investment than the 1964 Canadian Dollar which retails in the vicinity of $1.50 to $2.00 each. Even though another 500,000 Bermuda crowns might be struck (and it is also possible that they will not be struck) this would still only bring their total mintage to one quarter the amount of the '64 Canadian dollars. With these facts to go on, we think they have an excellent future and can offer them to you as follows:

ing the United States; these entries are divided into chapters such as General Works, Colonial Coinages, Modern Coinages, and History of the Mints.

Numismatics in the United States is also mentioned in other parts in connection with private or public collections and exhibits of coins — such as Smithsonian's "Hall of Monetary History and Medallic Art" — as well as in a chapter mentioning biographical entries of noted numismatists.

The closing chapters cover the various activities in collecting and exhibiting coins. A selection of catalogues of public and private collections, catalogues of national and international exhibitions and collective volumes of international congresses is assembled in three chapters.

The authoress is married to Dr. Vladimir Clain-Stefanelli, distinguished curator of the Smithsonian's division of numismatics.

Copies of the publication may be ordered by writing to Museum Service, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C.

ROYAL MINT PEAK OUTPUT OF 1,044m. COINS

The Royal Mint produced 1,044.6m. coins last year, the highest total yet attained and exceeding by over 200m. the previous record output of 836m. in 1961.

U.K. coinage totalled 441.1m. pieces and for overseas governments a new record figure of 603.4m. coins, or 60 per cent of the year's output, was struck.

The pieces produced for the U.K. consisted of 4.5m. half-crowns, 16.3m. florins, 18.8m. shillings, 137.3m. sixpences, 47.4m. threepences, 144.4m. pennies, 72.1m. halfpennies and 4,778 Maundy coins. The number of pennies produced was a new record.

Issues of new cupro-nickel coin totalled £10.06m., of which £8.24m. represented an expansion of the amount of coin in circulation.

The overseas coinages struck for 31 Commonwealth and foreign countries comprised 108 different denominations in 10 different alloys. During the year 28,759 medals and decorations were issued. New work included a medal to commemorate the Independence of Malawi, long service medals for the Singapore Police Department, and the "S. G. Brown" medal for the Royal Society.

New Public Seals were prepared for the Bechuanaland and Swaziland Protectorates, the British Antarctic Territories and for Nigeria.

GOLD IN MARCH 1965

Production of recoverable gold from domestic mines increased nearly 10 percent in March to 128,100 ounces compared with February, according to preliminary data compiled by the Bureau of Mines, U. S. Department of the Interior. Output in the first quarter was nearly 362,900 ounces compared with 353,700 ounces in the corresponding period of 1964.

The U. S. gold stock dropped $355 million during the month to $14,638 million at the end of March, according to preliminary data compiled by the Federal Reserve System. The comparable figure at the end of March 1964 was $15,550 million. In the first quarter of 1965, the gold outflow totalled $833 million, about seven times the total outflow in 1964. The U. S. reserve constituted about 34 percent of the total gold reserve of free-world central banks and governments. The ratio of the gold reserve to the Federal deposit note liability dropped 1.1 percent to 41.3 percent on March 31, compared with 47.3 percent on the corresponding date in 1964.

Bills (H. R. 6505, S. 1377) to revitalize the American gold-mining industry, and (H. R. 6542) to establish a gold procurement and sales agency and establish a new price for domestic producers were introduced in the 89th Congress and referred to the respective Committees on Interior and Insular Affairs of the House and Senate. H. R. 6504, a bill to permit free marketing of gold, also was introduced and referred to the Committee on Banking and Currency.

Prepared May 12, 1965, by J. Patrick Ryan, Physical Scientist.

SILVER IN MARCH 1965

Mine output of recoverable silver in the United States increased 7 percent to 3.21 million ounces in March compared with February and was 11 percent more than in March 1964, according to preliminary data compiled by the Bureau of Mines, U. S. Department of the Interior. Output in the first quarter was 1.58 million ounces more than in the corresponding period of 1964.

The price of silver remained unchanged at 129.300 cents per ounce in the New York market and 112.000d (130.67 cents) for spot, and 113.250d (132.125 cents) for forward delivery in the London market.

Daily Statements of the Treasury indicate that withdrawals for subsidiary coinage and commercial use reduced the silver bullion reserve 45.3 million ounces in March. On March 31, the total Treasury stock consisted of 1,074.0 million ounces silver bullion, 2.3 million ounces in silver dollars, 6.8 million ozs. in subsidiary coin, and 33.6 million ounces in other silver bullion.

The Committee on Government Operations, House of Representatives, issued its sixth and seventh reports on the Nation's coin shortage based on a study and public hearings by its Legal and Monetary Affairs Subcommittee in 1964 and March 1965. The Subcommittee made several recommendations to the Treasury to alleviate the shortage and assure adequate supplies of U. S. coin to meet all needs.

MARKET SUMMARY

JUNE 2, 1965

By Russell Brown

This week the market drifted slightly lower in most issues but there were several bright spots noted. Peace dollars halted their downward correction and common date Morgans were heavily requested.

In the Lincoln cents, the headlong decline has come to a halt as the offerings of rolls at below-market prices seem to be drying up. The 1960-P small date regained five dollars of its prior week loss and the 1952-S was up a dollar.

In the Jeffersons, there was little volume. Most of the bids were for war year issues and as a result several including the 1943-P and 1944-P were up. Only the 1945-D of all the silver nickels was down. The 1950-D was hit by a small burst of selling and as a result dropped into the 600's for the first time since February of last year. This roll, believe it or not, is now selling at its October 1963 price.

The 1952 issues of Roosevelt dimes appear to be the leaders of the small silver brigade these days with the Denver issue up two dollars and the Philly up a dollar. While not showing an increase, the San Francisco issue is being heavily traded at its prior week price.

Of all the series, the Washington quarters are the least affected by the present declines. The Washingtons have only gone down seven per cent from their all time highs. This is indeed a small decline considering the long faces we see in the coin market these days.

As a matter of fact, even the small change (cents, nickels and dimes) is only down 18% from the highs of last year. Only the Peace dollars and proof sets have been wounded seriously by the recent selloff.

Speaking of Peace dollars, they have ceased their correction and are now being traded at prior week prices. In fact, a heavy trade in singles was noted this week at considerably higher than roll price level.

The Franklins have quieted to the point where we are almost at an all time low, volume wise. The issue prices seem to be holding up quite well in spite of general disinterest and several of the late date Philly rolls were bid into the gain column.

Proof sets remain extremely quiet with a few price changes of any consequence. We feel that the downward price trend of those Canadian proof likes have had a lot to do with the U.S. proof set declines.

The Market Opinion

It is quite possible to look at our graphs and statistics and draw a very pessimistic picture of the present day coin market. The truth of the matter is that things look quite a bit better than they did thirty days ago. Have you noticed that dealer buy ads are beginning to reappear in the papers lately? This is the surest sign of a renewal of investor interest in the market. These dealers are not buying to fill their own larders. They are buying because their investors and customers are buying.

Hopefully, we are close to the end of the current depression in coin prices. There are, however, several factors which might force the market down further and investors would be wise to keep well informed about these.

If the country cuts back on the silver content of coins, it might well call in, simultaneously, all currently circulating silver coinage. The government can do this, provided it has replacement.

Also there is a bill before Congress to make dealings in non-numismatic coinage at a profit illegal. (Just what is non-numismatic coinage?) A number of us were trying to figure out, the other day, where the Treasury would draw the line if this bill passed. 1958? 1955? 1950? 1900? And no matter what date is picked, would this mean that albums could not be filled by purchase beyond that date? No one knows.

We are now operating a retail store at 1206 Baker Street! A big thanks to all you fine people for your support and cooperation. We apologize for our slow service during the past two or three weeks, but check the prices below and see how much we really appreciate you!

1964 PEACE DOLLAR

We are sorry that we will be unable to fill these orders.

Should the Gov't. reverse itself, we will offer the dollars with preference given to those who answered our ad. All checks are being returned immediately!

1942-D BU Quarter Rolls

We have been fortunate enough to purchase a very small holding of this extra scarce roll. While our limited supply lasts we will sell a few rolls at $145.00 per roll. Limit, 2 rolls per customer, as quantity will not warrant larger deliveries. WATCH THIS ROLL CLIMB!
